

2008 Virginia Women in History Book Template

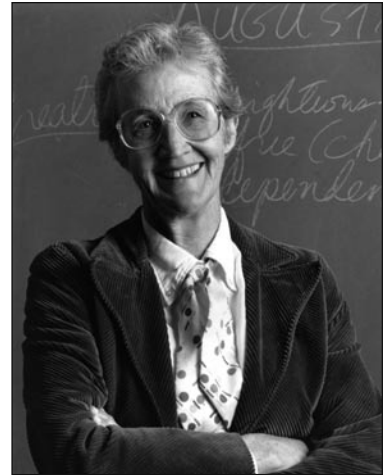

Have your students create their own history book with this easy-to-make project. Each student will need one copy of the cover template, two copies of the main template, access to the 2008 Virginia Women in History Poster, and drawing implements.

1. Fold each copy of the template along the dotted lines. Your students will need to make "fold 1" first and "fold 2" second in order for the book to work. The final product will look neater if the folds are made so you do not see the lines. Basically, the paper is folded in half, and then in half again.
2. Place the cover template on the outside and place the other two inside of it so that the folds line up like the spine of a book.
3. Staple along the newly created spine.
4. Use the eight pages inside to illustrate the lives of the honorees and to take notes from the poster. Your students can do this all at once or they can each be responsible for learning about one woman for each of eight class sessions. You add a challenge by asking them to put the women in chronological or alphabetical order, and ask them to include a table of contents.
5. Have students use the last page to write about their own heroines or to honor a woman who is important in their lives.
6. When you flip through the pages, the final project will look like:

Cut out the women's pictures to paste into your book.

Who would you nominate?

Now it is your turn!

fold 1

Virginia Women in History Sponsors:

Dominion®

BON SECOURS
RICHMOND HEALTH SYSTEM
Bon Secours Health System

Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy

Richmond Times-Dispatch
inRich.com

Images courtesy of: Old Salem Museum and Gardens, Library of Virginia, Friends Association for Children, Providencia Velazquez Gonzalez,
The William Smith Morton Library (Union Theological Seminary-PSCE), Patricia Buckley Moss, Elizabeth Bermingham Lacy, Sharyn McCrumb

fold 2

Table of Contents

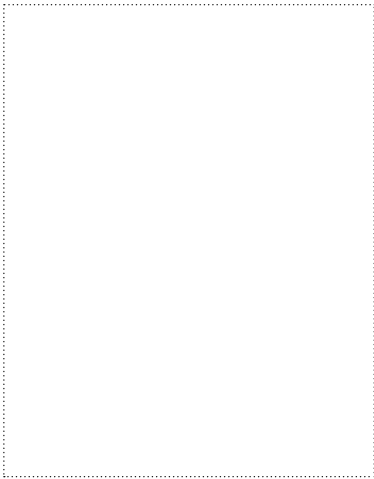

virginia womenⁱⁿ HISTORY 2008

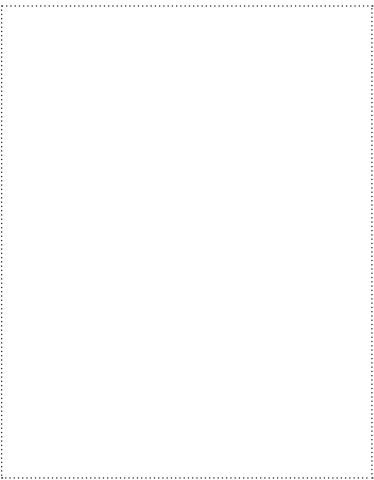

Presented by:

LIBRARY OF VIRGINIA

fold 1

fold 2

